Gettin' Letters

When you're far away from home an' you're feelin' kind o' blue
When the world is topsy-turvy, nothin' sets jest right fer you,
Yuh can sneer at all your troubles, an' yer cares yuh never mind
When you've really had a letter from the Girl yuh left behind.
When the cook is downright nutty, an' his biskits never raise,
When he feeds yuh canned tomatoes fer jis seventeen straight days
Yuh can quite fergit he's nutty, yuh can treat him fairly kind,
If you've really had a letter from the Girl yuh left behind.
When the Captain's got a grouch on, an' has bawled yuh out fer fair,
When some pesky Lieut has sassed yuh which to home he would-n't dare,
Yuh can lift yer chin an' whistle, an' that's easy, yuh will find,
If you've really had a letter from the Girl yuh left behind.
When a letter comes yuh grab it right before the other guys,
An' yuh git a little vision o' the light that's in Her eyes;
Yuh can see Her smiles an' dimples, an' fer other girls you're blind
When you've really had a letter from the Girl yuh left behind.
Jest a sheet or two of paper with a purple stamp or two,
But it means the whole creation to the heart an' soul o' you,
An' yuh git to feelin' pious, an' yuh pray a bit, yuh mind,
For the great Almighty's blessin' on the Girl yuh left behind.
—E. C. D., Field Hospital.

To My Father

Ah, we were thoughtless, thankless —Youths is so!
We took, as we do still, the sun, the rain,
The tender love that with our growth did grow,
The watchful care that shielded us from pain!
And now the fleeting years have sternly told
More precious was thy love than fame and gold!

—Florence Gilmore.

"Homes, Schools, Churches and Roads, Make America a Better Place in Which to Live"

We went into the war to aid in making the world a better place in which to live. Behind the victory of arms, it the United States is to appropriate her share of the fruits of victory, must be determined to do those things which make for prosperity and happier and more contented people. Homes, the very foundation of the social structure; schools, the mold in which our citizenship is cast; roads, the arteries of commerce; churches, springs of spiritual inspiration. These we need in increasing numbers throughout the land if America is to be made a better place in which to live. War interrupted our construction work in these lines. The country needs almost a million homes right now. It needs hundreds of schools. There are not enough good roads or churches. To resume work in these lines immediately means convincing evidence of your faith in the country's future; it means stimulation for all lines of business; and of profound importance right at this time, it means a demand for labor—employment for returned soldiers—BUILD NOW.

BOY SCOUTS

CLEMENCEAU PRAISES SCOUTS

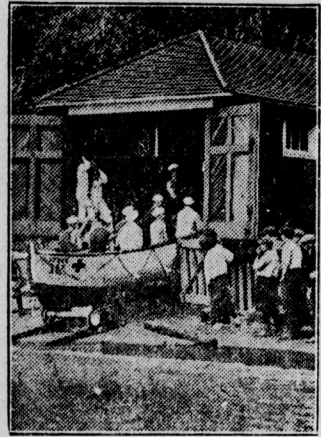

On the day of a march-past of the French boy scouts before President Poincare, the minister of war, M. Clemenceau (nicknamed "The Tiger"), received an ovation from the scouts.

It was evident that the boy scouts particularly took his fancy, and when they had marched past he poured out his congratulations on their smart appearance.

In a speech of his a few days later on the armistice he pointed out that just as the soldiers had up to that moment been the most important people in the country, all must now look forward to forming an equally strong force of men for insuring peace and prosperity that should follow the war. The "poilus de la guerre" must be succeeded by the "poilus de la paix."

As he was the inspiring leader of the former it is only natural that he should have now been asked to be the leader of the French scouts, a position he has just accepted with the title of chief scout.

C. C. Cole, chief of police in Long Beach, Cal., answering a question as to the boy scout movement in relation to the juvenile problem in this city, states that during his four years as a police official there has not been one case of trouble caused by a scout.

"As to their help to the city," he continues, "I have used them many times to help our police department. The last four years I have used the boy scouts on the Fourth of July, using about 50 at a time, picked from the different troops; each boy is furnished a boy scout police badge. They work in pairs with a patrol leader in charge of each squad. They principally look out for fires, lost articles and lost children. One year they brought in over 60 lost children to the beach sub-station. Last year the squad patrolling the pier extinguished three small fires."

BADEN-POWELL TO SEE SCOUTS.

In a cablegram received at the national headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America the announcement is made that Gen. Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell will visit the Boy Scouts of America either in May or June—at such time as convenient to the organization here.

Since the Boy Scouts of America have been asked by the French government to take leadership in formulating an educational program along scouting lines, much attention is being drawn to the possibilities of closer international relations among the great scout brotherhood.

One of the matters that the leaders in this country will discuss with General Baden-Powell, the founder of the boy scouts, is the furthering of a closer international bond.

BELGIAN SCOUTS SEND CABLE.

National headquarters has received the following cablegram from the boy scouts of Belgium:

"Delivered from the yoke of enemy occupation, the Belgian boy scouts hasten to send to their brothers their warmest expressions of greeting. They hope that the feeling of brotherhood born on the field of battle will continue between their country and yours that the ties of friendship may become closer and closer between the scouts of your organization and the Belgian boy scouts."

The report of the fourth year of scouting in Belgium shows tremendous forward strides, despite the obstacles placed in its path by the war.

An Impression
"What's your idea of a socialist?"
"Well," replied Senator Sorghum, "out my way a socialist is usually a man who hasn't a chance of getting office under the old political parties and is willing to try anything."

GOOD ROADS

NEW ROAD BUILDING PROGRAM

Amount of Money Available for Federal Aid Largest Ever Set Aside by Any Nation.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

With full state co-operation according to the terms of the federal aid road act, the United States will have a total of at least $574,000,000 for cooperative road building during the next three years. The federal part of this fund is assured by an extra appropriation of $209,000,000 in the post office appropriation bill just passed by congress and signed by the president.

Officials of the bureau of public roads, United States department of agriculture, which administers the provisions of the federal aid road act and co-operates with the state governments in the expenditure of the money, point out that this amount of funds is the largest ever appropriated for similar purposes and for a similar period by any government in the history of the world, and that it enables the federal and state governments to carry out a road-building program of a magnitude never equaled.

In connection with the great federal aid program it is also noted that expenditures for highway work in the United States this year are likely to amount to half a billion dollars or more. On reports received from state highway departments, the bureau of public roads estimates the 1919 expenditures for roads and bridges at $385,000,000, or $110,000,000 more than the average expenditures for 1916 and 1917.

An important effect of the law containing the new appropriation is that it broadens the definition of a rural post road, under which class a highway had to qualify in order to receive the benefits of the federal aid act.

Under the old act it was required that mail should actually be carried on the road or that there should be a reasonable prospect that mail would be carried on it within a short time after improvement. The new act says: "The term 'rural post roads' shall be construed to mean any public road, a major portion of which is now used or can be used, or forms a connecting link not to exceed ten miles in length of any road or roads now or hereafter used, for the transportation of the United States mails, excluding every street and road in a place having a population, as shown by the latest available federal census, of 2,500 or more, except that portion of any such street or road along which the houses average more than 200 feet apart."

The new act also raises the government limit of contribution from not to exceed $10,000 a mile to not exceed $20,000 a mile, taking account of higher present costs of labor and materials.

The law also authorizes the secretary of war to transfer to the secretary of agriculture material, equipment and supplies suitable for highway improvement and not needed by the war department.

The original federal aid road act, which became law in July, 1916, appropriated $75,000,000 to aid in the construction of post roads during a five-year period ending June 30, 1921, and $10,000,000 to aid in forest-road building during a ten-year period ending June 30, 1926. Not over $3,000,000 of the original $85,000,000 had been expended prior to 1919, so that $82,000,000, plus $209,000,000, or a total of $291,000,000 of federal funds, will be available, of which $287,000,000 will be available during the next three years.

POOR HIGHWAYS ARE COSTLY

Economic Loss to the United States Placed at Annual Figure of $504,000,000.

The congressional report of 1914 placed the economic loss to the United States through poor roads at an annual figure of $504,000,000 for transportation costs alone. The heavy increase in tonnage since that time probably makes the loss today close to $1,000,000,000 a year.

LADY READING DEPARTS

Lady Reading has departed from Washington with her husband, for he has completed the special work for which he came here as British ambassador and has gone home. This is a new photograph of Lady Reading.

Caught at Last.

A one of the summer camps, a father said to his pretty daughter one morning.

"What time did you send that young Simpson home last night?"

"Oh," replied the girl, "I don't think it was very late."

"It must have been close to midnight."

"Why, father?"

"Didn't you send him out of the back door and hurry off to bed when you heard me coming in?"

"Oh, I must have been in bed for hours when you came in."

"You heard me, then?"

"Yes, You woke me up."

"And you had been in bed for hours?"

"Oh huh!"

"That certainly is funny."

"Why?"

"Because when I went to light the lamp I nearly burned my hands on the hot chimney."

BOMB PLOT AGAINST LEADING AMERICANS

The United States was startled the other day when there was revealed a great plot to slay leading officials and other citizens by means of bombs sent through the mails. It is believed to have been the work of radicals, as nearly all the intended victims were concerned in the prosecution or deportation of members of the I. W. W. and other undesirables. This photograph shows the bomb which was sent to Judge Landis of Chicago.

THEY WORE WHITE FOR ONE DAY

Washington's several hundred yeomen (F) celebrated the change from navy blue to their attractive summer costumes by staging a drill which was reviewed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, acting secretary of the navy. That same night the temperature reached 35 degrees and the winter costumes came back. Mr. Roosevelt is the civilian with a cane.

Railroad Men Outrank the Men of the Sea for Their Various Odd Superstitions

The superstitions of railway men are so numerous that even the sailor, who is generally credited with being the most superstitious man in the world, must needs take second place, London Tit-Bits states.

In Russia, when a woman is the first to enter a train, bad luck is sure to come unless the next two persons to enter the same compartment are men.

Friday, the 13th day of the month, black cats, cross-eyes, mirror breaking, lightning, coach numbers and their variations, and the weather are a few of the fantastic superstitions of railway workers.

Many drivers will not commence a journey without a flower in the buttonhole, usually a white one, or a white ribbon. Others wear a peculiar button, the insignia of their fraternal orders, and even a piece of red string, often almost invisible.

A left-handed fireman or driver is looked askance at by some railway men and as a lucky companion to others. In some cases transfers to other runs have been asked because such an individual is given a berth, while others request to be given a place by a left-handed or ambidextrous person.

As for travelers, burning coffee after breakfast is better than an accident policy, while winding one's watch on the train means a safe journey. Putting a wisp of straw in one's trunk or bag protects it from injury and insures safety.

If dust blows in one's eyes while in the train it means good health for a year; if it blows while going to the train it is a sign of accident.

A general superstition among railway men is that when one leaves his home to go to work he must not return and go indoors for something he has forgotten. Should he have to do so, the bad luck to follow will be nullified if he sits for even a second in a chair and lifts his feet from the floor.

Wisconsin Village of 350 Persons Issues Bonds and Builds Its Own Railroad

If you haven't a railroad to your farmhouse door, build one!

That's what the farmers of one locality have done. No longer is Ettrick, a town of 350 inhabitants, in isolation ten miles from the nearest railroad and without adequate outlet to the trade markets.

For Yankee pluck has again triumphed over all obstacles and citizens of that township in Trempealeau county proudly survey the ten-mile railroad they recently finished building.

Ettrick wanted a railroad and the companies declined to build one. So, in spite of war conditions, the citizens financed the $300,000 project by a $175,000 bond issue and the sale of stock in the ten-mile branch line.

Then they built it. Labor was not available, so the banker and butcher, doctor and merchant, old, middle-aged, and young men, worked Sundays, week days and holidays, morning, noon and night, and finally themselves completed the little railroad.

Since January, when it was finished and connected with the Green Bay & Western at Blair, 34 cars of grain, many cars of stock and other products have gone by rail from Ettrick. The Green Bay & Western supplies the equipment.

THE STRONG

Do not deem him weak that owns his strength is tried?

Nay, we may safely lean on him that grieves;

The plume has immemorially sighed, The enduring poplar's are the trembling leaves.

To feel, and bow the head, is not to fear; To cheat with jest—that is the coward's art;

Beware the laugh that battles back the tear; He's false to all that's traitor to his heart.

He of great deeds doth grope amid the throng Like him whose steps toward Dagon's temple bore;

There's ever something sad about the strong— A look, a moan, like that on ocean's shore.

—John Vance Cheney.

When Number Is Divisible by Four It Is Leap Year

Leap year is a year which leaps over, as it were, one day more than an ordinary year; a year which contains 366 days, as distinguished from an ordinary year, which includes only 365 days. Every year the number of which is divisible by four is a leap year, except when it happens to be any number of hundreds not divisible by four. Thus 1884 was a leap year, but not 1900, this omission of leap years in such centuries being necessary to correct the error which arises from the excess of the addition of one day in four years (i. e., six hours) to the year over the true length of the year, i. e., 365 days 5 hours 48 minutes.

UGH! A DOSE OF NASTY CALOMEL

It salivates! It makes you sick and you may lose a day's work.

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.—Adv.

RESURRECTION

Silken butterfly wings unfolding, Leave their wrappings gray; From the mold pure lilies springing, Greet the new-born day.

They are Risen? 'Tis a promise, God hath given all men— Lo, ye shall not sleep forever, Ye shall rise again!

Far away 'neath rude carved crosses Rest brave soldier boys, While on earth we mourn our losses, Turning from its joys.

Take ye comfort in your sadness, Hush ye sorrow's cry, They are Risen! 'Tis a promise, Given from on High.

Silken butterfly wings unfolding, Leave their wrappings gray; From the mold pure lilies springing, Hail the new-born day.

They are Risen! 'Tis a promise, God hath given all men— Lo, ye shall not sleep forever, Ye shall rise again!

It Works! Try It

Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

No humbug. Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

This drug is called freezezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses, but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist doesn't have freezezone have him order it for you.—Adv.

Great Advance With More Unity Has Been Made in Grammar and Spelling

In the days of Chaucer there were undoubtedly differences among writers which seem singular to us; yet crude though they were, the art of literary composition was well advanced. That, however, says the Christian Herald, was not the greatest age; it came in the Elizabethan period; and while the literary peculiarities of Shakespeare's style were strongly defined, it could not be said in any sense that they revealed lack of knowledge in either grammar or spelling, the standards of that day being suited to the culture of the time. And a great advance had been made over the days of Chaucer. In the days of Addison, Johnson, Swift, Congreve and Goldsmith, we find a great advance with more unity in both grammar and spelling. The authorized version of the Bible in the line of literary workmanship noted the greatest advance of all, and reached a point which has not been surpassed if, indeed, equaled. There was a certain latitude in spelling, it is true, to which we today look back with interested curiosity; but even that was not the result of ignorance, but rather of custom, which allowed the latitude, and it was in no sense a literary disfigurement.

St. Ethelbert, King of Kent, Was First English Ruler to Be Given Christian Baptism

The first Christian king of England was St. Ethelbert, king of Kent. Ethelbert reigned over Kent from 560 to 616, and he also held imperial sway over the other Saxon monarchs as far north as the banks of the Humber.

Like all his predecessors on English thrones he was a pagan. To increase his power he married Bertha, daughter of the king of Paris. His queen was a Christian, and she brought with her to England a French bishop, who held services for the benefit of Bertha and her attendants in a small building near Canterbury. King Ethelbert was not very favorably impressed with his wife's new-fangled religion and preferred that of his fathers until an Italian missionary, St. Augustine, arrived in England. The king and his stalwart pagan warriors gave a hearty greeting to the missionary, and Augustine soon convinced the Kentish king that Christianity was an improvement over the old faith. Ethelbert was duly baptized, and the lesser chiefs and common people soon followed his example. Go great was the eagerness of the people to embrace the religion of Christ that on one day 10,000 people were baptized.

Evaporation of Moisture Aids to Keep Body Cooler

Evaporation of moisture from the surface of our bodies is one of the things that keeps us from getting too hot in the summer time. Humid days seem to be much warmer because there is not so much evaporation of moisture from our bodies to keep us cool. In winter, too, moist air seems to be warmer than dry air. Even at 70 degrees the air in a room will seem cool if very dry, while at 68 it is comfortable if enough water vapor is present. A pan of water on the radiator or stove often will save a shovelful of coal and give more health and comfort.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard something about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. WORTHLINE, 2842 North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, back-ache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to "Mrs. Worthline."

Don Juan bent low at Tosca's knees, And Rigoletto rang the chimes; Bach worried Mephistopheles, Gluck sang "Oh, taieen" forty times. Zerlina wailed, "Oh, Promise Me," And Faust took Carmen for a ride; Bizet wept through "The Rosary," While Falstaff looked on wonder-eyed.

Othello warbled "Home, Sweet Home," And Faure gave Norma such a wink; Moussorgsky at the metronome Inspired Puccini for a drink. You ought to hear Mascagni laugh, And Violetta speak her mind. As Wagner worked the phonograph, And said his life was all a grind.

A BIT OF HUMOR

The great Baltimore fire, costing the insurance companies fifty million dollars, was caused by a cigarette thrown into rubbish, where it smoldered and finally created the conflagration, which looked for a time as if it would sweep the entire city. If the boy who was responsible for this disaster had known what the effect of his carelessness would be, I am sure that he would have seen that his cigarette was out before he threw it away.

A three-hundred-pound man stood gazing longingly at the nice things displayed in a haberdasher's window for a marked down sale. A friend stopped to inquire if he was thinking of buying shirts or pajamas.

"Gosh, no!" replied the fat man wistfully. "The only thing that fits me ready-made is a handkerchief." —Harper's Magazine.

During the recent Shakespeare celebration, a number of local amateurs appeared in the great dramatist's most famous tragedy. Next day the principal actor inquired of a critical friend what he thought of the performance. "It was great! Simply great!" was the reply. "As you played Hamlet it was easy to see why Ophelia should go and drown herself." —Universalist Leader.

At a certain church it is the invariable custom of the clergyman to kiss the bride after the ceremony. A young woman who was about to be married in this church did not relish the prospect and instructed her prospective husband to tell the clergyman that she did not wish him to kiss her. The bridegroom obeyed the instructions given.

"Well, Harry," said the young woman, when he appeared, "did you go to tell the minister that I did not wish him to kiss me? Yes my dear."

"And what did he say?"
"He said that, in that case, he would charge only half the usual fee." —Tid-Bits.

A "Tommy," lying in hospital, beside him a watch of curious and foreign design. The attending doctor was interested.

"Where did your watch come from?" he asked.

"A German gave it me," he answered. A little piqued, the doctor inquired how the foe had come to convey his token of esteem and affection.

"'Ad to," was the laconic reply.

—London Nation.

"Evil thoughts like green apples upset the whole system."

"Do not use the ninth letter of the alphabet to excess."

"It is not enough to aim. You must hit."

"It is easier to talk too much than too well."

"The great task in this world is not to make a living, but to make a life."

Rabbits

The rabbit is popular in Campbell. Boys little and big are raising them. Some talk New Zealanders, the red rabbit so popular with Los Angeles fanciers on account of their alleged superior tenderness and flavor; others talk Belgian the once most popular rabbit of the valley; and still others argue the respective merits of the giants, steel gray favorite prize winners at the rabbit show, gray Flemish, black or checkered giants; but all talk rabbits. And those who raise them are not frightened at the cost of meat. If you want to know any thing about rabbits ask the local dentist, a barber, packers, farmers, sales or any of the small boys of the enterprising class town.

Campbell's Beautiful May Festival Fulfills Expectations

The presentation of Shakespear's "Mid Summer Night's Dream" by the High School players in the May Festival was most satisfactory and highly creditable to all concerned. It not only displayed considerable dramatic talent in the players, but especially did it show evidence of thorough training. One disadvantage of the usual professional presentation of a classic drama is the fact that there are but one or two star players in the cast, the merits of whose playing tends to emphasize by contrast the defects of the others. This is not likely to be true of an amateur production, and particularly was it not true of the Campbell High players in the "Mid Summer Night's Dream." Every character merited special praise and deserves special mention, which lack of space, however, prevents us from giving. The characters were well chosen, each one was well adapted to his part and played it well: The costuming was very pretty. Campbell has good reason to be proud of the English department of her High School, for it is evidently accomplishing results. The play also displayed to good advantage the efficiency of the work done in the manual training department, in making of the furniture and stage effects; in the domestic science department, where the costumes were designed and made, and in the art department, which, under the skillful direction of its instructor, Miss Johnson, produced the advertising posters and the exceptionally beautiful scenery. The musical department also had its important part, and played it exceedingly well. In fact about every department of the school, was represented in this production, and the result reflected great credit on the work that is being done in the school.

(THIRD ARTICLE) The course of study for the first year consists of the farm project, which has been described in the previous article; farm English; farm applications of mathematics, and civics. All the academic courses are supplementary to and hinge upon the project. The work of the project is the basis for the science mathematics, English, etc. To show the method and spirit that underlies all these academic subjects I will quote the requirements as to the sort of mathematics that is to be taught: "farm application of mathematics should draw upon the entire field. Arithmetic, algebra, geometry, trigonometry; and surveying should each contribute its part. Farm mechanics, farm drawing, and farm applications of science will present many problems for solution. Farm accounts, measurements and weights, land measurements, field plottings and irrigation problem should furnish most of the remainder of the material for the course."

The work is individual throughout, not only in the project but also in the academic courses. Also the work may be adapted to the conditions. For example, if it seems best to spend a whole half day or more on the study and investigation of any topic by the class, that may be done and the other subjects deferred till later though the relative amount of time devoted to the various subjects must be maintained as closely as possible. One important feature of the new department will be that the teacher may act as a farm adviser for this section. He will without doubt have as good qualifications as many of the farm advisers that have done so well in some of the counties; in fact, some of the county farm advisers are going into this agricultural work in high schools. A good farm adviser in this high school district would be worth his salary many times over in that capacity alone, regardless of his work as instructor in the high school. One of the absolute essentials for the success of this new venture is permanence of tenure for the man who is chosen, provided, of course he is a capable man. It must not be expected that he is going to revolutionize agriculture in a year. Some of the finest work that I have seen in the state is being accomplished in a school where the teacher has been for six years and the results are just now beginning to make themselves evident, even to the casual observer. I shall be glad to answer any questions and to mail or send to any one who asks a copy of the bulletin of the State Board of Education that applies to this work. To any prospective registrants in the course I shall be glad to be of any assistance that I may.

IRVING W. SNOW.

High School Notes

You will all agree with me that the May Festival was a thorough success. Every character played his part exceptionally well and deserves a great deal of credit. The students wish to thank every one who came and helped to make the entertainment a success; without your support it would have been a failure.

The posters which were made by the members of the freehand drawing class, were auctioned off on Saturday night for various prices.

The sum received from the sale was $16.00

The sum received from the sale of tickets amounted to $440. dollars.

The expenses amounted to $100, dollars, and the amount cleared from the May Festival was $350. dollars after expenses were paid.

This is the amount raised from the Junior and Senior plays and the May Festival.

The boys' base ball team treated the girls' base ball team to a feed last Wednesday afternoon (May 5) at Albright's Hill. The party which filled several automobiles, left the high school just after school and returned home about nine o'clock.

The feast was composed of weenies and buns, chocolate, and cake—a regular picnic feast. This was a reward for the I. A. U. pennant which the girls team won this year.

Boy Scouts, 'Shun!

Little Clyde Preston represents a number of young lads of Campbell at a meeting held last Wednesday evening at the Congregational church. They will hold a meeting tonight—Friday—at 7.30 P.M. in the Congregational church for the purpose of forming a Company of Boy Scouts. An instructor will be present and outline the future plans of the organization.

The High School Alumni Reception will be given at the Saratoga Club House, Saturday June 14th. The High School bus will run for those who have no other means of transportation. The charge will be 25 cents for the round trip. For information call on Courtland Watson, Phone—Campbell 40 L.

YOSEMITE HIGHWAY CERTIFICATES, BUY NOW!

With but one week remaining in the drive of the Yosemite Valley Highway Association to raise $1,000,000 to guarantee the construction of a paved year round highway from Merced to Yosemite, hundreds of volunteer workers throughout California are redoubling their efforts to dispose of the (five dollar) certificates of motor vehicle entrance to the national park. Two hundred thousand of the $5 certificates must be sold before the State Highway Commission will undertake the work of constructing the paved boulevard. The campaign will close June 5 and chairman Rudolph Spreckels expects all of the certificates to be sold by that date. Those having certificates for sale are urged to redouble their efforts that an extension of drive beyond June 7 may not be necessary. All motorists are expected to purchase one or more of the entrance permits.

If We Had But A Day

We should fill the hours with sweetest things,
If we had but a day:
We should drink alone at the purest springs
On our upward way;
We should love with a lifetime's love in an hour,
If our hours were few;
We should rest, not for dreams but for fresher power,
To be and to do.

We should waste no moments in weak regret
If the day were but one;
If what we remember and what we forget
Went out with the sun.
We should from our clamorous selves be set free
To work or to pray.
And to be what our Father would have us to be,
If we had but a day.

W. C. T. U. Notes

The members and friends of Campbell Woman's Christian Temperance Union held an interesting meeting at the hospitable and attractive home of Mrs. S. L. Hayes on 28th of May. There were just forty present to listen to reports of delegates attending the recent county convention and to enjoy the special music rendered. During the business half hour, it was voted to send letters to California's congressmen and senators urging them to work and vote toward retaining war-time prohibition and to provide for its enforcement. An invitation to attend the Congress of Reforms to be held at Pacific Grove August 9 to 14 was given. This gathering affords a fine opportunity to the public to hear many progressive and important questions of the hour set forth by able speakers. Members and friends are urged to take their vacations at that time and place. Mrs. Treat, new superintendent of work among the children, reported having received literature and helps from state headquarters and said she hoped to be able to have a Loyal Temperance Legion in Campbell before long. It was voted to send an invitation to Los Gatos union to visit Campbell on June 11th when the meeting will be held with Mrs. R. W. Kennedy. The secretary was also authorized to send a letter of appreciation to Mr. W. B. Kammerer, who has just resigned the principalship of Campbell Grammar School.

His hearty co-operation in Scientific Temperance and other helpful lines, has been highly valued and much regret was expressed at his leaving.

Letters of sympathy were ordered written to the relatives and family because of the passing of Mrs. Carrie Marshman formerly a member of Campbell W. C. T. U. The welcoming service was used, gladly welcoming Mrs. A. C. Keessing into the ranks of the white ribbon army. The following program was then rendered. Echoes of the county convention by Mrs. Clara Baldwin, and Mrs. Clara Gilman, A sprightly piano solo by Wilma Smith, vocal solos sweetly sung by Mrs. A. I. Cramer, Lillian Guard, and Harold Cramer, concluding with selections upon the victrola, added much to the hour and were warmly applauded.

Appetizing refreshments were daintily served and the ladies lingered long chatting sociably. A vote of thanks was tendered the friends who had assisted in making the program so enjoyable.

Resolutions

We, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, in meeting assembled do hereby express our appreciation of the splendid assistance in our work rendered us by Mr. W. B. Kammerer, both as a teacher, and as a man, during the five years he has been with us as Principal of the Campbell School.

We hereby express our regret at his resignation from the school, and express our hearty good wishes wherever he may go.

Pundita Circle

Mrs. L. P. Beal of Campbell entertained the ladies of the Pundita Circle at her home on May 28th 1919. Mrs. Grace Philbrick of San Jose was present and gave a splendid talk upon the work being done by the Good Cheer Club; and what it means to the county, in the way of better health.

Mrs. Beal as hostess was assisted by Mrs. Davidson, and Mrs. Evans. Delicious ice cream and cakes were served. Aletta L. Tate, Secretary and Treasurer

Congregational Women's Missionary Society Thank Offering Meeting

The Womens Missionary Society of the Congregational church held their annual Thank Offering meeting at the home of Rev Preston Thursday afternoon. There were a goodly number present and they had a very interesting meeting. Miss Tollman a missionary from China was there and gave a very earnest and interesting talk on missionary work in China, it's encouragements and how we at home can help our missionaries who are in Foreign lands. Every one present enjoyed meeting Miss Tollman and hearing her message. After Miss Tollmans message the Thank Offering was taken up and was indeed a gift of gratitude. Following this, delicious refreshments were served and a social time was enjoyed.
